

The T-Rec T-Rex

Issue #2 July 14-18 2014

While the teens were away taste testing herbs at the Farmer's Market, Halloween Day took place at the school. There were tons of Teletubbies and witch costumes running around the gym.

On Wednesday, we grabbed our grass skirts for Luau Day! We played games like coconut bowling and other fun games. Later we got smoothies made of combinations of mangos, orange, and bananas, and others a mixture of strawberries and blueberries. It was a fun day of games.

This week we did many amazing things but on Tuesday we went to Chatham to listen to a cappella music by the music group Hyannis Sound. We heard "Signed, Sealed, Delivered," a Jackson Five song, "Happy," and all the Frozen songs. Hyannis Sound made instruments with their mouths.

Do you like dangerous plants, mysteries, labyrinths, and old cars? What about fish? We do! We had fun at the fish hatchery, watching the fish eat the food and splash all over the place. At the Heritage Museum we saw old cars and even got to sit in one. One house told us how wicked bad plants can be regular food like peas. There were many fun things going on.

Friday was Out of this World Day for the younger kids, but the teens went stand-up paddle boarding. We had to be really steady to be on the paddle board or we'd plop right into the water.
